Dear friends,

According to the Encyclical Dictionary the word "Church" means "sacred and of the greatest significance in determining an outcome." This month, I want to talk to you about Cuba. As you know, the Church is present throughout the territory, working toward education, evangelization, reconciliation, theological and pastoral education, and training in theology. The Church is involved in the mission of the apostles with all the opportunities and challenges that come with it.

The Cuban government recently released a law that allows the formation of religious groups, which is a significant step forward. However, there are still many challenges ahead. The Church must continue to work in the mission of the Church and collaborate with all partners.

Crucial Cuban Theological Seminaries

By: Dr. Teo Bauta

The Western Cuba Baptist Theological Seminary (WCC) has a long history of providing theological education to the Cuban people. The school has produced many leaders who have contributed to the Church in Cuba.

The Eastern Cuba Baptist Theological Seminary (ECB) has a strong focus on educating Christian leaders for the Church in Cuba.

Echo Cuba provides resources for the seminaries, including research, resources, and training opportunities.
